

FALL 2014
ART 492A: ART HISTORY SEMINAR

Museum Collections: From Storage to Exhibition

*Are you curious about working behind-the-scenes at a museum?
Are you interested in learning about managing museum collections?
Do you want to learn about handling and working closely with original objects?*

TR 3:30-4:45 (3 credits)
University Center for the Arts, Room 222

This course is intended to introduce students to topics involving museum collections and expose them to museum collection issues. Topics will be addressed through readings, documentary films, guest speakers, object research, site visits and hands-on museum projects. Students will be asked to research an object from the collection and give a presentation using creative ways to engage visitors drawing on personal insight they have gained through close examination and investigation.

Enrollment is limited with instructor's approval.
